Whether you plan to buy or sell a bank, or hold onto the bank you've got, no banker can afford to be uninformed about the trends and developments taking place in the mergers and acquisitions arena. Unsolicited offers can come and unique opportunities can appear when you aren't expecting them. You owe it to yourself, your shareholders, your staff, and your customers to be prepared.

Featuring industry expert attorneys, accountants and consultants. Plus breakout sessions on: credit unions as buyers, the M&A landscape from the Fed, bank valuations, liquidity consideration for a successful deal; and much more.
