Changing conditions likely to affect ranks of industry participants

Welcome to the seventh annual edition of the Bank Holding Company Association's National Directory of Holding Companies. We provide this digital publication free of charge. I hope you find it useful. While all of the data contained herein is publicly available, we feel we are providing a valuable service by pulling this together into one comprehensive and easy-to-use document.

The state-by-state format is a good way to assess which states remain holding company strongholds. The number of bank charters and holding companies, of course, has evolved in response to local and regional laws governing home office protection and branching. These issues have generally been settled across the states, but the impact of these laws from decades ago is still evident.

It is interesting to contemplate what new influences might affect the number of bank holding companies and the number of bank charters. The regulatory environment is shifting, as are conditions in the payments arena. Some of the shifts, such as a movement to allow payment stablecoins, will surely affect who is active in banking. In some cases, pressure may drive additional consolidation among traditional charters and institutions, but in other cases, new players may spring up that can respond to new opportunities more quickly than those bound by legacy systems. It will be interesting to watch conditions evolve over the coming years.

The figures used to compile this edition are provided by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, which helps us each year with this project. We sincerely appreciate their support and partnership. This edition, as well as previous editions, is available on our website at www.theBHCA.org.

If you are reading this in August or September, let me encourage you to click over to the information on this website about our annual Fall Seminar: "Banking in the Success Zone," taking place Oct. 6-7, 2025 at the Westin Galleria Hotel in Edina, Minn. This event features presenters who will help you understand the value of your franchise, particularly in the context of the nation's banking industry. In addition to some of the most knowledgeable and experienced attorneys, accountants and M&A consultants in the community banking arena, this seminar also features first-hand accounts from bankers who have made acquisitions or sold assets. Consider attending, invite colleagues from your institutions (don't forget directors) and register today!

Thank you very much for your support. If you are not a BHCA member, I invite you to consider joining. Refer to the contact information on this page and reach out to us today!
